Study Overview

This Residential Target Market Analysis (TMA) and study for Gratiot County reflects a collaborative effort of a diverse team of stakeholders. It has been funded through a matching grant provided by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA); and has also benefited from administrative support from the East Michigan Council of Governments (EMCOG). Through this initiative, LandUseUSA (a MSHDA-approved TMA consultant) has been engaged to conduct the study, which was completed in late 2016.

The study spans the East Central Michigan Prosperity Region 5, which includes Arenac, Bay, Clare, Gladwin, Gratiot, Isabella, Midland, and Saginaw Counties. Results for each county are detailed in individual reports that can be found online at www.emcog.org, along with an accompanying Regional Workbook. Contact information for the EMCOG and LandUseUSA is provided on the last page of this summary; and stakeholders are encouraged to email or call with any questions.

Results of the TMA have been used to identify Missing Middle Housing formats for developers and to encourage the development of unique products within that building typology. A description of the typology can be found in the Regional Workbook, and additional resources are also available online at www.MissingMiddleHousing.com.

The market potential from the TMA has been carefully aligned with housing formats to reflect the preferences of migrating target markets (lifestyle clusters) and their propensity to choose attached units in a variety of building sizes. The TMA also focuses on migrating target markets that have a high propensity to choose urban places to live, including downtowns and compact neighborhoods. Recommendations also reflect results of a real estate analysis and observations of existing choices throughout the county.

Gratiot County Results

This short document summarizes the results for Gratiot County and includes a selection of tables and exhibits from the complete report. Summary Table A on the following page summarizes the results for the county, plus the cities of Alma, St. Louis, and Ithaca; and the Village of Breckenridge. By matching unique housing formats with the preferences of migrating target markets, these places can benefit through population retention and growth.

"Slide" by Building Format

Summary Table B on the next page demonstrates the TMA results for Gratiot County and the City of Alma by building size, before and after some adjustments. The adjustments apply a "slide" to align the market potential with the most appropriate building sizes.

For example, in the City of Alma, there is an annual market potential for 90 units in buildings with 100 or more units. Assuming that one large building can capture a 50% market share (which is exceptionally high), this implies that it would take at least two years to fill one 100-unit building. Instead of waiting two years to fill one large building, the market potential can be fitted to several buildings that are smaller and more appropriately sized. These adjustments are shown in the following table.

The following page displays Summary Table C, which repeats the results for the City of Alma, plus the cities of St. Louis and Ithaca; and the Village of Breckenridge. As shown, the annual market potential has been reallocated to building sizes that are most appropriate for each place. For example, the City of Ithaca's annual market potential for 29 units in relatively over-sized buildings (i.e., buildings with 50+ units each) has been more appropriately fitted to smaller buildings with 20+ units each. Ideally, any new-builds will be developed with Missing Middle Housing formats, such as townhouses, row houses, or lofts/flats.

Attachments

All of the exhibits attached to this summary are excerpts from the complete TMA report and document, and they include the following:

- a) Histograms comparing the market potential to current supply by building size.
- b) Tables showing the market potential among all 71 lifestyle clusters, and among two subsets that represent moderate and upscale target markets.
- c) Histograms demonstrating the most prevalent households living in each respective county and place, by lifestyle cluster.

The complete report and Regional Workbook both include additional information on the upscale and moderate target markets. Interested stakeholders are encouraged to review both documents to become familiar with the terminology and the preferences of these migrating households.
